

“Introduction to First Aid Support”

Our "Introduction to First Aid Support" is aimed to help people with disability understand what role they could play in an emergency.

We work closely with the students to give them the confidence and knowledge of how to react, and what assistance they can offer.

Brite Institute can come to you to deliver training your staff onsite at your workplace or business.

This course is non-accredited, and a Statement of Participation will be provided upon completion of the course.
